“Dr. Simkins is an amazing teacher. The material was organized and easy to understand. I have learned a lot in this class.”

Dr. Simkins is the Williams Companies Professor of Business and Professor of Finance in the Department of Finance at Oklahoma State University’s Spears School of Business. She received her B.S. Degree in Chemical Engineering from the University of Arkansas, her M.B.A. from OSU, and her Ph.D. from Case Western Reserve University. She is co-editor of the Journal of Applied Finance and a member of the Natural Gas and Energy Association of Oklahoma. She loves teaching as evidenced by the six teaching awards received at OSU including the 2001 Regents Distinguished Teaching Award, the 2001-2002 Outstanding MBA Faculty Award, and the 2013 Richard W. Poole Faculty Excellence Outreach Award. Prior to entering academia, she worked in the energy industry for Conoco (now ConocoPhillips) and Williams Companies. Dr. Simkins just released a book titled “Energy Finance and Economics: Analysis and Valuation, Risk Management, and the Future of Energy.” She presents executive education courses for companies globally.
