Twelfth Annual
OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY
ENERGY CONFERENCE

Attend the OSU Energy Conference to learn from experts in the energy industry and network with energy business professionals. After attending this conference, you will have a better understanding about the current energy market, where Oklahoma stands in that market, and predictions for the future.

MAY 10, 2018
COX BUSINESS CONVENTION CENTER
Downtown Oklahoma City
8:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
CONFERENCE AGENDA

8:45 a.m. Welcome
Dean Ken Eastman, Spears School of Business, Oklahoma State University | Stillwater, OK
Dr. Betty Simkins, Head of Finance and Williams Companies Chair in Business, Spears School of Business, Oklahoma State University | Stillwater, OK
Moderator: Griff Jones, President and Chief Executive Officer, Twin Eagle Resource Management, LLC | Houston, TX

9:00 a.m. “Investor Demands on Publicly Traded E&P Companies”
Investor sentiments has incorporated a “lower for longer” commodity price environment into their investment decisions. Long-term success for E&P companies demands valve-based work practices be employed. Vaughn discusses how Devon Energy navigates in this environment.
Tony Vaughn, Chief Operating Officer, Devon Energy Corporation | Oklahoma City, OK

10:00 a.m Break

10:15 a.m. “The Current Role – and Potential Future – of Oilfield Services in the US Oil and Gas Sector”
The shale revolution has been enabled by a number of factors, including technological advances in drilling and completion equipment and services. How, specifically, have drilling rigs, pressure pumping fleets and other related services supported the advance of hydrocarbon production from unconventional resources, and what further dynamics might animate the Oilfield Services Sector in the next decade?
Jerome Loughridge, President, Great Plains Oilfield Rental/Patterson UTI | Oklahoma City, OK

11:00 a.m. “The Paradox of Public Filings: Deriving Value from Data Buried in Plain Sight”
Face it: public oil & gas data is a dumpster fire. Regardless of where, from whom, or how you get your data, energy professionals today are dealing with technologies born from the days of 56K dialups when “big” data was limited to what could fit on a CD-ROM. The oil and gas industry is now ready for a data revolution. Emerging in the age of broadband access, social media, big data, analytics, artificial intelligence, machine learning, and the IOT, this revolution will create lasting change in one of the oldest industries in America.
Evan Anderson, Co-Founder & Chief Executive Officer, Oseberg | Oklahoma City, OK

12:00 p.m. Lunch

1:00 p.m. “The Oil and Gas Digital Revolution”
This session will provide insights into how Chesapeake Energy is working to transform their company through data, innovation, and technology.
Jason Pigott, Executive Vice President, Operations & Technical Services, Chesapeake Energy Corporation | Oklahoma City, OK

1:45 p.m Break

2:00 p.m. “Electricity in the 21st Century”
OGE discusses how technological advances and customer demands will impact the electric industry of the future.
Sean Trauschke, Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer, OGE Energy Corp. | Oklahoma City, OK

2:45 p.m. “Cost Control – Driving Efficiencies into Resource Development”
Technology advances and generally lower commodity price expectations have combined to drive exploration and production companies to think of their operations much like mining. Logistics, supply chain optimization and process efficiencies are keys to success. How is that playing out for this STACK operator?
Hal Chappelle, President & Chief Executive Officer, Alta Mesa Holdings | Houston, TX

3:30 p.m. Adjourn
